UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

THOMAS J. DONOHUE
PRESIDENT AND
CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

1615 H STREET, N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20062-2000

April 4, 2017

The Honorable Lamar Alexander
United States Senate
Washington, DC 20510

Dear Senator Alexander:

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce supports the nomination of Judge Neil Gorsuch to be Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, opposes a filibuster of his nomination, and will consider including votes on cloture related to his nomination in our annual How They Voted scorecard.

The American business community and America's free-enterprise system depend on the stable rule of law guaranteed by the Constitution, and which has been maintained by the three co-equal branches of government for the past 227 years.

No one, the Chamber included, agrees with every decision rendered by any judge. However, over the course of his distinguished judicial career and during the current confirmation process, Judge Gorsuch has demonstrated that he is eminently qualified to serve on the Supreme Court.

During the confirmation hearing held by the Senate Judiciary Committee, Judge Gorsuch spent nearly 20 hours answering approximately 1,200 questions from Senators. He has provided an additional 70 pages of written responses to questions from Senators of both parties.

No Supreme Court nominee has ever been blocked by a partisan filibuster. And in the one instance where a nominee was blocked, the nominee did not have the clear support of a majority of Senators. Despite the rise in partisanship in recent years, since 1980, only two Supreme Court nominees required cloture prior to the actual vote on their confirmations. In those instances, the nominations proceeded to a final vote and ultimate confirmation.

To date, a number of Democratic senators have stated that they will vote to prevent a filibuster of Judge Gorsuch's nomination and allow the Senate to proceed to a final vote. The Chamber urges you to do the same.

Sincerely,

During the confirmation hearing held by the Senate Judiciary Committee, Judge Gorsuch spent nearly 20 hours answering approximately 1,200 questions from Senators. He has provided an additional 70 pages of written responses to questions from Senators of both parties.

No Supreme Court nominee has ever been blocked by a partisan filibuster. And in the one instance where a nominee was blocked, the nominee did not have the clear support of a majority of Senators. Despite the rise in partisanship in recent years, since 1980, only two Supreme Court nominees required cloture prior to the actual vote on their confirmations. In those instances, the nominations proceeded to a final vote and ultimate confirmation.

To date, a number of Democratic senators have stated that they will vote to prevent a filibuster of Judge Gorsuch's nomination and allow the Senate to proceed to a final vote. The Chamber urges you to do the same.

Dear Senator Cochran:

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce supports the nomination of Judge Neil Gorsuch to be Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, opposes a filibuster of his nomination, and will consider including votes on cloture related to his nomination in our annual How They Voted scorecard.

The American business community and America's free-enterprise system depend on the stable rule of law guaranteed by the Constitution, and which has been maintained by the three co-equal branches of government for the past 227 years.

No one, the Chamber included, agrees with every decision rendered by any judge. However, over the course of his distinguished judicial career and during the current confirmation process, Judge Gorsuch has demonstrated that he is eminently qualified to serve on the Supreme Court.

During the confirmation hearing held by the Senate Judiciary Committee, Judge Gorsuch spent nearly 20 hours answering approximately 1,200 questions from Senators. He has provided an additional 70 pages of written responses to questions from Senators of both parties.

Washington, DC 20510

Dear Senator Feinstein:

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce supports the nomination of Judge Neil Gorsuch to be Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, opposes a filibuster of his nomination, and will consider including votes on cloture related to his nomination in our annual How They Voted scorecard.

The American business community and America's free-enterprise system depend on the stable rule of law guaranteed by the Constitution, and which has been maintained by the three co-equal branches of government for the past 227 years.

No one, the Chamber included, agrees with every decision rendered by any judge. However, over the course of his distinguished judicial career and during the current confirmation process, Judge Gorsuch has demonstrated that he is eminently qualified to serve on the Supreme Court.

During the confirmation hearing held by the Senate Judiciary Committee, Judge Gorsuch spent nearly 20 hours answering approximately 1,200 questions from Senators. He has provided an additional 70 pages of written responses to questions from Senators of both parties.

No Supreme Court nominee has ever been blocked by a partisan filibuster. And in the one instance where a nominee was blocked, the nominee did not have the clear support of a majority of Senators. Despite the rise in partisanship in recent years, since 1980, only two Supreme Court nominees required cloture prior to the actual vote on their confirmations. In those instances, the nominations proceeded to a final vote and ultimate confirmation.

To date, a number of Democratic senators have stated that they will vote to prevent a filibuster of Judge Gorsuch's nomination and allow the Senate to proceed to a final vote. The Chamber urges you to do the same.

Sincerely,

The Honorable James M. Inhofe
United States Senate
Washington, DC 20510

Dear Senator Inhofe:

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce supports the nomination of Judge Neil Gorsuch to be Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, opposes a filibuster of his nomination, and will consider including votes on cloture related to his nomination in our annual How They Voted scorecard.

The American business community and America's free-enterprise system depend on the stable rule of law guaranteed by the Constitution, and which has been maintained by the three co-equal branches of government for the past 227 years.

No one, the Chamber included, agrees with every decision rendered by any judge. However, over the course of his distinguished judicial career and during the current confirmation process, Judge Gorsuch has demonstrated that he is eminently qualified to serve on the Supreme Court.

During the confirmation hearing held by the Senate Judiciary Committee, Judge Gorsuch spent nearly 20 hours answering approximately 1,200 questions from Senators. He has provided an additional 70 pages of written responses to questions from Senators of both parties.

No Supreme Court nominee has ever been blocked by a partisan filibuster. And in the one instance where a nominee was blocked, the nominee did not have the clear support of a majority of Senators. Despite the rise in partisanship in recent years, since 1980, only two Supreme Court nominees required cloture prior to the actual vote on their confirmations. In those instances, the nominations proceeded to a final vote and ultimate confirmation.

To date, a number of Democratic senators have stated that they will vote to prevent a filibuster of Judge Gorsuch's nomination and allow the Senate to proceed to a final vote. The Chamber urges you to do the same.

Sincerely,

The American business community and America's free-enterprise system depend on the stable rule of law guaranteed by the Constitution, and which has been maintained by the three co-equal branches of government for the past 227 years.

No one, the Chamber included, agrees with every decision rendered by any judge. However, over the course of his distinguished judicial career and during the current confirmation process, Judge Gorsuch has demonstrated that he is eminently qualified to serve on the Supreme Court.

During the confirmation hearing held by the Senate Judiciary Committee, Judge Gorsuch spent nearly 20 hours answering approximately 1,200 questions from Senators. He has provided an additional 70 pages of written responses to questions from Senators of both parties.

No Supreme Court nominee has ever been blocked by a partisan filibuster. And in the one instance where a nominee was blocked, the nominee did not have the clear support of a majority of Senators. Despite the rise in partisanship in recent years, since 1980, only two Supreme Court nominees required cloture prior to the actual vote on their confirmations. In those instances, the nominations proceeded to a final vote and ultimate confirmation.

To date, a number of Democratic senators have stated that they will vote to prevent a filibuster of Judge Gorsuch's nomination and allow the Senate to proceed to a final vote. The Chamber urges you to do the same.

The Honorable Bernard Sanders
United States Senate
Washington, DC 20510

Dear Senator Sanders:

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce supports the nomination of Judge Neil Gorsuch to be Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, opposes a filibuster of his nomination, and will consider including votes on cloture related to his nomination in our annual How They Voted scorecard.

The American business community and America's free-enterprise system depend on the stable rule of law guaranteed by the Constitution, and which has been maintained by the three co-equal branches of government for the past 227 years.

No one, the Chamber included, agrees with every decision rendered by any judge. However, over the course of his distinguished judicial career and during the current confirmation process, Judge Gorsuch has demonstrated that he is eminently qualified to serve on the Supreme Court.

During the confirmation hearing held by the Senate Judiciary Committee, Judge Gorsuch spent nearly 20 hours answering approximately 1,200 questions from Senators. He has provided an additional 70 pages of written responses to questions from Senators of both parties.

No Supreme Court nominee has ever been blocked by a partisan filibuster. And in the one instance where a nominee was blocked, the nominee did not have the clear support of a majority of Senators. Despite the rise in partisanship in recent years, since 1980, only two Supreme Court nominees required cloture prior to the actual vote on their confirmations. In those instances, the nominations proceeded to a final vote and ultimate confirmation.

To date, a number of Democratic senators have stated that they will vote to prevent a filibuster of Judge Gorsuch's nomination and allow the Senate to proceed to a final vote. The Chamber urges you to do the same.

Sincerely,

Despite the rise in partisanship in recent years, since 1980, only two Supreme Court nominees required cloture prior to the actual vote on their confirmations. In those instances, the nominations proceeded to a final vote and ultimate confirmation.

To date, a number of Democratic senators have stated that they will vote to prevent a filibuster of Judge Gorsuch's nomination and allow the Senate to proceed to a final vote. The Chamber urges you to do the same.

The Honorable Mark Warner
United States Senate
Washington, DC 20510

Dear Senator Warner:

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce supports the nomination of Judge Neil Gorsuch to be Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, opposes a filibuster of his nomination, and will consider including votes on cloture related to his nomination in our annual How They Voted scorecard.

The American business community and America's free-enterprise system depend on the stable rule of law guaranteed by the Constitution, and which has been maintained by the three co-equal branches of government for the past 227 years.

No one, the Chamber included, agrees with every decision rendered by any judge. However, over the course of his distinguished judicial career and during the current confirmation process, Judge Gorsuch has demonstrated that he is eminently qualified to serve on the Supreme Court.

During the confirmation hearing held by the Senate Judiciary Committee, Judge Gorsuch spent nearly 20 hours answering approximately 1,200 questions from Senators. He has provided an additional 70 pages of written responses to questions from Senators of both parties.

No Supreme Court nominee has ever been blocked by a partisan filibuster. And in the one instance where a nominee was blocked, the nominee did not have the clear support of a majority of Senators. Despite the rise in partisanship in recent years, since 1980, only two Supreme Court nominees required cloture prior to the actual vote on their confirmations. In those instances, the nominations proceeded to a final vote and ultimate confirmation.
