Geoff DAVIS

Every Kentucky resident deserves affordable health care.

Millions of Americans work for a small company or family business. Yet far too often, employers and employees of these companies can't afford the type of health care coverage they need.

That's why Congressman Geoff Davis supports Small Business Health Plans (SBHP). Small Business Health Plans will make health care more affordable and accessible for workers—and keep costs down for small businesses.

Davis supports allowing small businesses to pool together to purchase better and more affordable coverage.

Small-business owners want to provide the best benefits possible for their employees. That's why Geoff Davis supports Small Business Health Plans—so families will get the coverage they need.

But when his family inherits
his business,
they'll be taxed
like millionaires.

CONGRESSMAN GEOFF DAVIS WANTS TO CHANGE THAT.

IT'S CALLED THE DEATH TAX. AND GEOFF DAVIS WANTS TO END IT.

They say the only things certain in life are death and taxes. As unpleasant as that is, it gets worse. The IRS currently taxes you when you die.

They call it the Death Tax—an unfair tax levied against those who leave a family farm or business to a loved one.

Geoff Davis believes your taxes are high enough. He thinks it's wrong to ask families to pay even more when they lose a loved one.

That's why he wants to "kill" the Death Tax. Permanently.

Prior to enactment of Part D, millions of seniors had no prescription drug coverage under Medicare and paid full price for their medications. Thanks to this new program, more than 38 million people now have additional coverage for their medication.
