Dear Speaker Pelosi, Leader McConnell, Leader McCarthy, and Leader Schumer:

On behalf of the undersigned groups that have joined together as representatives of labor, employers, pension plans and other stakeholders, we urge Congress to address the growing multiemployer pension plan crisis and offer legislative solutions for all plans.

The multiemployer pension system is an integral part of the U.S. economy. In 2015, the multiemployer system paid $158 billion in federal and $82 billion in state and local taxes, supported 13.6 million American jobs, and contributed more than $1 trillion to U.S. GDP. This includes $41 billion in pension payments and $203 billion in wages to active employees. These plans provide more than 10 million workers the ability to accrue retirement benefits in industries such as trucking, food services, and construction.

Historically these plans have offered stable retirements for millions of workers, but the entire system is under threat of collapse. Due to a confluence of economic, statutory, regulatory, and demographic events, approximately 130 multiemployer pension plans (including several that are systemically important) are projected to run out of money within the next several years. These plans represent 1.5 million participants. Additionally, the plans' insurer of last resort, the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation (PBGC), will become insolvent in 2025 concurrently with the insolvency of the Central States Pension Fund, which is the largest multiemployer pension plan with respect to benefit payment.

Without changes to the law, it will be impossible for these plans and the PBGC to avoid insolvency, resulting in billions in lost tax revenue and billions in new safety net entitlement spending. However, with targeted legislation to create incentives for plans to enhance funding and reduce plan liabilities, many additional problems can be avoided.

We support achievable solutions that will restore the solvency of distressed plans and maximize benefits for participants, while not harming plans that are financially healthy or undermining plans with viable rehabilitation efforts underway. These solutions can use existing partitioning authority at the PBGC to provide a one-time program to remove plan liabilities from distressed plans. Any new funding for this authority must not be on the backs of healthier plans and must be shared across those impacted.

When Congress provides relief, tools must be provided to plans to ensure that plan failures are not repeated. This can be done by giving plans the ability to proactively manage plan funding and risks without handcuffing employers with increased withdrawal liability and unsustainable contribution rate increases.

Finally, to ensure there is not a repeat of this crisis, plans must be given the option to adopt new plan designs, such as modifications to the existing authority for variable defined benefit plans and 414(k) plans, such as composite plans, and other new plan designs. This will allow plans to attract new employers, eliminate the potential for underfunding and help prevent a reoccurrence of the current funding crisis. This should be done in conjunction with other reforms.

2019 is a critical year for legislative action. Every year that Congress fails to address these problems, they become more difficult and more expensive to solve while raising the risks of market-based consequences for the more than 200,000 employers that participate in multiemployer pension plans. We look forward to working with you in a bipartisan manner to secure the retirement of millions of active and retired workers and the fiscal stability of their contributing employers and the U.S. taxpayer.

Sincerely,
